FIMT – School of Law organized a guest lecture by Ms. Firdouse Wani, on Emergence of Collegium in perspective for BA.LL.B III A,B,C,D and BBA.LLB III A,B. The lecture started with the introduction of the speaker by Mr. Dhruv Malik, Asst. Prof. (Law) followed by a welcome note and bouquet presentation by Prof. B.R. Saini. Worthy Speaker started with introduction of collegiums system and the speaker drove through the entire history of the emergence of collegiums system briefing about main event and the cases. She briefly pointed out the flaws in the system and how it is being misused and what all challenges the system faces which needs to be amended.

The Collegium system is system of appointing and transferring the judges, which include Chief Justice of India and four senior-most judges of the Supreme Court. However, it has no place in the Indian Constitution. The system was evolved through Supreme Court judgments. The Central government has criticised it saying it has created an imperium in imperio (empire within an empire) within the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court Bar Association has blamed it for creating a “give-and-take” culture, creating a rift between the haves and have-nots. “While politicians and actors get instant relief from courts, the common man struggles for years for justice.”

In the end she highlighted the merits and demerits of both the systems and how a new method of procedure needs to be enacted in order to cater to the need of filling the large number of vacancies of judges in court harming our justice delivery system.

The event ended with interaction and question answer round with the students and the vote of thanks by Prof Sanjay Singh.

He emphasized on the background of SEBI, constitution of the committee, participation of Securities Brokers in Commodity Futures Market, Utilization of existing infrastructure of stock exchanges, Risk containment measures and various other related information. Dr. Vijay Kumar Singh futher pointed out the distinctive operational characteristics of commodity market, contrasted to the securities market, the imperative need of training and guidance to market intermediaries like securities brokers, and thus enable them to acquire the requisite specialized knowledge and skills to operate in the chosen niche of the commodity markets. His accumulated experience and knowledge gave a wonderful approach of learning the law to the students. Under the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (FIQAC)

Is easily treatable, leprosy still strikes fear in a country like India. Lack of knowledge about the disease has led to the perpetration of misinformation and misconceptions resulting in a deep rooted and widespread stigma against the disease and those affected. This is true not only among the uneducated but also among the educated. The negative perception of the disease is manifested in discrimination against and exclusion of not only the leprosy-affected but also their families and a denial of their basic human rights. Special and concerted efforts need to be made to eradicate social stigma. Societal mind-set has to be changed through awareness generation and advocacy.

These workshops created awareness between students regarding leprosy and proficient students to create awareness in the society with targeted messages “leprosy free minds”.

The Fairfield Institute of Management & Technology has organized a one day workshop for all the BCA students on the topic ‘Android Application Development’ on 26th Feb, 2020 by Mr. Piyush Pandey, CEO, Cybernaut Tech, Hounding Infosec Private Limited, New Delhi.

About the Topic: The session commenced with a basic discussion on Android Application Development. "Android apps can be written using Kotlin, Java, and C++ languages" using the Android software development kit (SDK), while using other languages is also possible. Some programming languages and tools allow cross-platform app support (i.e. for both Android and iOS). Third party tools, development environments, and language support have also continued to evolve and expand since the initial SDK was released in 2008.

Mr. Piyush Pandey has also discussed about the tools of application development and their implementation.
