OBJECTIVE

The importance of gaining practical experience in the field of law cannot be stressed enough. While an erudite teacher might be able to explain fully the nuances of law, it's only when the student walks through the corridors of the court, is reprimanded by an angry and sulking judge, fumbles through his documents; does he truly understand what it means to be a legal practitioner. As the aphorism goes—a good lawyer knows the law but a great lawyer knows the judge. A good lawyer not only possesses a scholarly understanding of his subject but is equally versed with the temperament of the judge. From sycophantic greetings to swooning admirations, a good lawyer just knows exactly how to swerve the judge's mood in his favour. The term internship refers to a stage/phase during which an individual gets the opportunity to experience his/her industry of interest before entering into it full time and opting for it as his/ her future career field. They are ideal for understanding the way a particular industry functions and what it would be like to work in that scenario. Probably because of the above-mentioned reason, it is seen that almost all professional courses have included a semester of compulsory internships in their course curriculum.

It takes months to understand the apparently complex behavior of a lawyer and years to adopt it. With a view to achieve the same, students of law, since their early years, are imparted practical experience in the form of periodic internships. An internship provides the students a hands-on, practical and 'real-life' experience; and gives him an opportunity to apply the knowledge attained during classes. The laws are clear and precise. It's only in their application to real life problems do students falter. An internship helps him achieve this unique skill that cannot be taught inside the confines of a classroom.

Conclusion

I went for this internship as a law student who merely had some bookish knowledge about what the laws are and as to how the courts adjudicate upon the laws. But, after the internship I became a law student who has the combination of academic knowledge of law as well as the practical aspect of the law.

Now I know what happens in a court of law and why that happens.

I learned how a criminal and civil proceeding is initiated and how it ends, right from the step of filing and drafting a complaint to the final step of the passing of a judgment.

I owe all this to Sandiip Gupta who made my internship experience so fruitful and prolific, without whom I would have not been able to learn so much.

I am sure that the knowledge and the experience I gained in the past 8 weeks are going to be very helpful in my future.

The Internship Program is not designated to teach us how to be good lawyers (or how to be lawyers at all) it takes more than study at the University to do that. The objectives are to: Expose us to the law in operation in context where we will come to perceive aspects of law which cannot be learned from reading or hearing about it.

Allow us to perceive ways in which the formal learning we acquire at University may be applied in practice and therefore to develop an appreciation of the practical dimension of the legal principle.

Enable us to relate the different areas of legal practice to importance of developing skills of legal research, communication, drafting, practice management and problem solving; and

Enable us to observe and reflect upon the values, ethical standards and conduct of legal profession in practice and to develop our own attitude of professional responsibility.

TASK 1: Article writing on any contemporary legal issue

Date : 2nd August, 2020

Topic - The shadow pandemic – an upsurge in domestic violence

This domestic abuse that women are exposed to in society is primarily a product of India 's old patriarchal system. The degree to which it is the most unpredictable event in the entire world and in natural disasters, such as the corona virus; women face a hard time remaining indoors. COVID-19 already checks us in the manner that most of us have never seen. The violence that arises now from this pandemic as a dark characteristic is a mirror and an essential challenge to our common values and humanities. But we rather than blaming the government, we should raise awareness of domestic violence and highlighting the different strategies through which complaints could be filed. Most of all, to counter this new reality, education, awareness and empowerment begin in a broader sense as the proverbs say WOMEN HOLD UP HALF THE SKY.

TASK 2 : CHILD RAPE

Date: 6th August, 2020

Sexual assaults and rapes are crimes of nature that leave not just the physical, but mental or even leave victims traumatized or dead. In 2002, WHO estimated that 150 million girls and 73 million boys under age 18 had been exposed to sexual harassment, one of the most common crimes but left unreported the most. Children below the age of 18 years suffer from various types of sexual activities like vaginal fingering, vagina and/or anal penetration, pornographic, looking at sexual parts with psychiatric sense. Despite all regulation, education and awareness, cases of sexual assaults against children in metropolitan cities have been reported to grow tremendously.

The occurrence is much greater than the authorities reported, and thus it is difficult to determine the number of sexual and rape cases. The victims are aged 2 months to 17 years, with very poor social and education status, mainly in the teenage years, unmarried, mainly adolescent women. Juvenile criminals are very much involved in committing rape. In most cases, the perpetrator is neighbour and/or known to the victim. The main focus of this article is on children suffering from rape.

TASK 3 : An outline of the Essential Commodities Act, 1955

Date : 17th August, 2020

Essential commodity Act provides powers to the government to pass orders in connection with making available essential commodities in-country and for defence purposes at reasonable prices.

Then why measures were taken to amend the EC Act? India has now become an exporter of agricultural products. With these developments, the Act has become outdated. Despite nationwide lockdown, there have been reports of production loss due to various factors, especially reduction in labour supply. In this situation, there is a possibility of inventory building/ hoarding and black marketing, profiteering, and speculative trading, resulting in price rise of essential goods. The states have been asked to take urgent step to ensure availability of these commodities at fair prices for the public at large. Interestingly, removing onions from EC Act is seen as a brave decision as there is a long history of government interference every time onion price increases. The proposed law suggests a framework under exceptional circumstances and unforeseen events such as rise in prices, war, drought, and extreme natural calamity.

TASK 4 : Abuse of children in circuses

Date : 24th August, 2020

A child that's missing is void. This void is not only a gap in the family but a gap in society as well. The fulfilment of this blank is essential for the survival of society as government bodies have made various efforts.

One such effort was the order given by the Supreme Court in the case Bachpan Bachao Andolan v. Union of India. It has the power to solve so many problems, but is it still a solution only on papers. At best, the implementation of this order is weak. The lack of sensitivity and ignorance reflected by the stakeholders is alarming. This issue need to be discussed jointly. But that's what is lacking to resolve the problem. There is lack of coordination and no clear of action among the members. Children are the survivors who are still missing, despite the procedure which unite them with their families.

TASK 5 : Financial relations of Centre and State government

Date : 30th August, 2020

After conducting a thorough study on financial relations between the Center and the State through a detailed discussion on the different ways in which revenue is distributed between the Center and the State, the subjects mentioned in the three lists, different types, the position of the finance commission and the impact of the emergency on the Center and the State. We are in a position to come to the conclusion. Without doubt we can conclude that no state can continue to operate without the central government 's active financial assistance. So there are still chances that the centre government will be able to make partiality in the allocation of financial resources and give the political parties of their choosing extra benefits. They can then use the power for their own political purposes. The future, however, seems positive as the Finance Commission has always been very progressive and welcoming to state demands and recommendations on tax allocation and other financial issues such as State borrowing and State debt etc. In addition, the Central Government's efforts to introduce GST and set up the GST Council are appreciable, as it brought much more clarity and uniformity in taxation. That will ultimately contribute to a long-term rise in revenues.

CONCLUSION

Pursuing this summer training I got an opportunity to get some exposure in the field of law. Research work was the basis of my internship and included promote the work in different ways. All of which was an over the top experience. Such summer trainings help a law student to reborn and replenish himself and to explore his bounds of training. Expertise in law comes through thorough reading which was the pre-requisite to our training. With a vote of thanks and gratefulness for reading this report thoroughly and for giving me this wonderful opportunity to grow up my vision in this field of law, I conclude this report with a great lot in my mind.

RESEARCH WORK

ARTICLE-1

TITLE: Media trail

AREA: Civil, Criminal and Constitutional law

BRIEF: Media is making wrong use of the freedom of speech and expression. It is interference in the process of justice delivery. Excessive use of freedom of speech and expression there have been numerous instances in which media has been accused of conducting the Trial of the accused and passing the verdict ever before the court and court passes its judgment. Media Trial should be done without restricting the rights of the accused under article 21 of the constitution of India for a fair Trial. But the behavior of the media is that of “Everything is fair in love, war and breaking news”

OBSERVATION: The media in India is free in terms of legal constraint as compared to the other countries. Freedom of media is the freedom of people as they inform the public matters to the nation. The first prime minister of Independent India Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru in a course of speech delivered on 20th June, 1916 in protest against The Press act, 1910 remarked that “I would rather have a completely free press with all the dangers involved in the wrong use of that freedom than a suppressed or regulated press”. Media has always been considered too has wide ranging roles in the society. Media plays a vital role in the Indian democracy. As media work without any kind of bias and prejudice as the media plays role of the opposition. Media works as the backbone of the Indian democracy and its link can be traced in Nationalist Movement in India. Media plays a vital role in framing the opinion of the society and the viewpoint of the people toward any event or person.

WHAT IS MEDIA TRIAL?

In early 1980s the term Media Trial or ‘trials by media’ has been in use to describe the impact of media coverage [electronic, print and now online too] on legal trial and hence creating the sense of right or wrong in the minds of the society. A formal definition of the phrase would be: the impact of television and newspaper coverage on the reputation of a person/organization/institution by creating a widespread perception of guilt or innocence before the verdict is announced by a court of law. Sometimes media trials are held even after the court verdict is announced when the public is not satisfied with the judgment.

In the year 1982, a New Zealand born Australian lady, Lindy Chamberlain was convicted for killing her two months old baby by the Australian court. She served in the jail for three long years only to be proved innocent after eight years of stigma, sorrow and dismay filled life. It was possible only because of the intervention of the media. Ever since this case, the significance of media has been felt worldwide. But in India the electronic media was controlled by the government but the Indian media industry has actively participated and inculcated the public in such trials.

EFFECTS OF MEDIA TRIAL

Media Trial effects the accused, witness and public .As a result of exposure by the media, the person (accused) in light, whether guilty or innocent will have to live under intense public scrutiny for the years to come. The question arises what if the accused is acquitted by the court what about their social image? Jumping to conclusion well before the Trial of court may call for proceedings for the contempt of court against media. If media release the identity of the witness then it will affect the case as so the witnesses tend to retract their testimony to get out of the muddle. Then it calls for laws which prevent witness from amending their statements. Media Effect on the public as it provokes public hysteria which could severely affect the decision making capabilities of the law. And there is possibility of attracting lynch mob. It also has positive aspects also like it rallies the public for the proper cause to fight for justice. Media Trials unintentionally helps criminal to escape the case and culprit takes the benefits to reach a safer place.

CASES

Delhi eve-teasing case

In this case, Japleen kaur played on women card and used political connections to put the accused in women harassment. The media immediately joined the bandwagon by broadcasting the voices of self proclaimed judges. Due to which the accused suffered a lot as he lost the job, faced severe public hatred and he was arrested by the police. And when the matter went to the court the accusations turned out to be lies and witness confirmed that the accused was actually innocent.

Badaun Rape Case

In this case two girls who had gone to open a field which was used as the toilet area I the village and they were found hanged next day on a tree. The girls were initially reported to have been gang raped and then hanged on the tree but when the investigation is done by CBI there was no evidence of rape.

Jessica Lal Murder Case

In the case Jessica Lal was shot dead in a party hosted by the socialite Bina ramani, at her restaurant tamarind court by manu Sharma. Initially due to lack of evidence, the case was closed and all 9 prime suspects were acquitted by the court. But media played a major role in reopening the case. NDTV acquired the tape. Later the news channel received hundreds of text messages from the public urging urgent action be taken against the accused. The sting operation was actually done by TEH ELKA. And due to enormous outcry and extensive media pressure the case was reopened and the Delhi High court sentenced Mr. Sharma to life-time imprisonment.

Priyadarshini Motto Murder Case

Priyadarshini Motto was a 23 year old law student was found raped and dead at her New Delhi residence. The prime accused was santosh kumar Singh her college senior. Various evidences were found at the crime scene but after 3 years of investigation and Trial, the accused was released by district court citing lack of proper evidences. The verdict was met with heavy criticism and outcry from both public and media and included frequent public interviews from the father of the victim. After one year, CBI which was handed over the investigation because the father of the accused was an IPS officer submitted an appeal in High court against the district court verdict. Ultimately after 6 years the high court pronounced the accused guilty and awarded a death penalty which was reduced to life sentence 4 years later by the Supreme Court.

In recent times there have been numerous instances in which media has conducted the trial of an accused and has passed the verdict even before the court passes its judgment. Some famous criminal cases that would have gone unpunished but for the intervention of media, are Priyadarshini Mattoo case, Jessica Lal case, Nitish Katara murder case and Bijal Joshi rape case. The media however drew flak in the reporting of murder of Aarushi Talwar, when it preempted the court and reported that her own father Dr. Rajesh Talwar, and possibly her mother Nupur Talwar were involved in her murder, the CBI later declared that Rajesh was not the killer.

IMPACT OF MEDIA TRIALS

MEDIA TRIALS vs. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND EXPRESSION

Freedom of speech plays a crucial role in the formation of public opinion on social, political and economic matters. Similarly, the persons in power should be able to keep the people informed about their policies and projects, therefore, it can be said that freedom of speech is the mother of all other liberties.

Keeping this view in mind Venkataramiah, J. of the Supreme Court of India in Indian Express Newspapers (Bombay) (P) Ltd. v. Union of India has stated:

“Freedom of press is the heart of social and political intercourse. The press has now assumed the role of the public educator making formal and non-formal education possible in a large scale particularly in the developing world, where television and other kinds of modern communication are not still available for all sections of society. The purpose of the press is to advance the public interest by publishing facts and opinions without which a democratic electorate [Government] cannot make responsible judgments. Newspapers being purveyors of news and views having a bearing on public administration very often carry material which would not be palatable to Governments and other authorities.”

The above statement of the Supreme Court illustrates that the freedom of press is essential for the proper functioning of the democratic process as Democracy means Government of the people, by the people and for the people.

In R. Rajagopal v. State of T.N the Supreme Court of India has held that opportunity of the press to taking part in uninhabited discussion about the inclusion of public figures out in the Public issues and occasions. Yet, as respects their private life, an appropriate adjusting of opportunity of the press just as the privilege of security and kept up slander must be acted as far as the majority rule lifestyle set down in the Constitution.

Consequently, considering the perceptions made by the Supreme Court in different decisions and the perspectives communicated by different Jurists, it is perfectly clear that the opportunity of the press streams from the opportunity of articulation which is ensured to all residents by Article 19(1) (a). Press remains on no higher balance than some other resident and can't guarantee any benefit (except if gave explicitly by law), accordingly, as unmistakable from those of some other resident. The press can't be exposed to any exceptional limitations which couldn't be forced on any resident of the nation.

MEDIA TRIAL vs. FAIR TRIAL

Trial by media has made an "issue" since it includes a back-and-forth between two clashing standards – free press and free Trial, in the two of which people in general are fundamentally intrigued. The opportunity of the press comes from the privilege of people in general in a vote based system to be required on the issues of the day, which influence them. This is the legitimization for analytical and battle news-casting.

Simultaneously, the "Option to Fair Trial", i.e., a Trial uninfluenced by superfluous weights is perceived as a fundamental principle of equity in India. Arrangements planned for protecting this privilege are contained under the Contempt of Courts Act, 1971 and under Articles 129 and 215 (Contempt Jurisdiction-Power of Supreme Court and High Court to rebuff for Contempt of itself separately) of the Constitution of India. Of specific worry to the media are limitations which are forced on the conversation or distribution of issues identifying with the benefits of a case pending under the watchful eye of a Court. A writer may in this way be subject for scorn of Court in the event that he distributes anything which may bias a 'reasonable preliminary' or anything which weakens the un-biasness of the Court to choose a reason on its benefits, regardless of whether the procedures under the steady gaze of the Court be a lawbreaker or common continuing.

The media surpasses its privilege by distributions that are perceived as biased to a suspect or blamed like concerning the character for charged, distribution of admissions, distributions which remark or think about the benefits of the case, photos, police exercises, attribution of guiltlessness, making a climate of partiality, analysis of witnesses, the Indian criminal equity framework. It envelops a few different rights including the option to be assumed honest until demonstrated blameworthy, the blame is to be demonstrated past sensible uncertainty and the law is administered by faculties and not by feelings the privilege not to be constrained to be an observer against oneself, the privilege to an open preliminary, the privilege to legitimate portrayal, the privilege to quick Trial, the option to be available during Trial and, examine witnesses, etc

IS MEDIA TRIAL A CONTEMPT OF COURT?

Trial by Media is Contempt of Court and needs to be punished. The Contempt of Court Act defines contempt by identifying it as civil and criminal. Criminal contempt has further been divided into three types:

1. Scandalizing
2. Prejudicing trial, and
3. Hindering the administration of justice.

Prejudice or interference with the judicial process: This provision owes its origin to the principle of natural justice; 'every accused has a right to a fair trial' clubbed with the principle that 'Justice may not only be done it must also seem to be done'. There are multiple ways in which attempts are made to prejudice trial. If such cases are allowed to be successful will be that the persons will be convicted of offences which they have not committed. Contempt of court has been introduced in order to prevent such unjust and unfair trials.

What should media actually do?

The reports by media should be based on accuracy and fairness of facts and not in surmises and suspicion. And the primary function, therefore the press is to provide comprehensive and objective information of all aspects of the country's political, social, economic and cultural life. It has an educative and mobilizing role to play.

- Care should be taken against defamatory writings.
- Due care should be exercised while reporting proceeding of courts.
- Glorification of an act of violence should be forbidden.
- Correction and retraction should be made in case of error without any delay
- Right to privacy should not be intruded.

CONCLUSION

The primary problem lies in our constitutions which grants right to public trials. The bad impact of trials conducted by media can be corrected by giving only limited information to the journalists that is sufficient enough to keep the people of the nations aware of the happenings around the globe. This would not only regulate the accountability of investigator official towards us but also help criminal courts do their jobs with complete harmony and peace. Secondly, the criminal courts must try to ignore the media comments with disciplinary boards handling the conflicts between them.

INQUIRY	INVESTIGATION
According to Section 2(g) of CrPC, it means every inquiry other than trial conducted under the CrPC by a Magistrate or Court.	According to Section 2(h) of the CrPC investigation includes all proceedings under the CrPC for collection of evidence conducted by a Police Officer or any person (other than a Magistrate) authorized by a Magistrate in this behalf.
Inquiry refers to proceedings conducted by a Court or a Magistrate.	An investigation refers to the proceedings or steps taken by an authority like Police Officer. An investigation is not conducted by Magistrate; it is conducted by a person authorized in this behalf by the Magistrate.
An Inquiry primarily aims at determining the truth of reported crime or falsity of facts if any.	Investigation mainly comprises the process of collection of evidence.
Inquiry can either be Judicial or non-Judicial.	Investigation cannot be a judicial process.
Proceedings under Chapter X (D) [maintenance of public order and tranquility] and Section 176 [inquiry by Magistrate into cause of death] are an Inquiry.	Investigation involved the following process: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Reporting at the incident of crime.</li> <li>➤ Ascertaining facts and circumstances of the case.</li> <li>➤ Discovery and arrest of suspected persons.</li> <li>➤ Collection of evidence.</li> <li>➤ Determining whether on the basis of facts and evidence collected there is a case to put the accused on trial or file a charge sheet.</li> </ul>

Inquiry: Inquiry is defined under Sec 4(1) (k) of Criminal procedure code,1973: Inquiry includes every inquiry other than a trial conducted under this code by a magistrate or court.

Authority to conduct inquiry: The inquiry must be conducted by a magistrate or court.

Object of inquiry: The object of inquiry is to ascertain the truth of the facts in order to take further action. It includes everything done in a case by a magistrate whether the case has been challenged or not. It does not always mean a judicial inquiry. Whether it does or not depends on the context in which it is used. The definition in the code is exhaustive under the code it means not only an inquiry into an offence but extends to inquire into matters which are not offences. Proceedings under chapter (XII) (disputes as to Immovable Property) are inquiries, within the meaning of Sec.4 of the code. Inquiry includes all inquiries conducted under this code, but not includes trials conducted by a magistrate.

Types of Inquiry are as follows –

- 1) Judicial
- 2) Non Judicial/ Administrative
- 3) Preliminary
- 4) Local
- 5) Inquiry into offence
- 6) Inquiry into matter other than the offence.

Trial

The term trial has not been defined by CRPC. So it may be defined in general sense as, “Trial means a proceedings, which starts when the case is called by a magistrate or judge on the bench, the accused is in the dock and representatives for both the prosecution and defense are in the court for the hearing of case and this ends at either acquittal or conviction”. Trial Pre-supposes the commission of an offence and generally begins with the framing of charge.

In a warrant case the trial begins with the framing of the charge when the accused is called upon to plead thereto : but in a summons case, as if is not necessary to frame a formal charge, the ‘trial’ starts when the accused is brought before the Magistrate and the particulars of the offence are stated to him. In a case exclusively tried by a court of session the trial begins only after the committal proceedings by the Magistrate. The term “trial” includes appeal and revision, which are a continuation of the first ‘trial’.

The function of a court in a criminal trial is to find out whether the person arraigned before it as the accused’ is guilty of the offence with which he is charged. For this purpose it scans the material on record to find whether there is any reliable and trustworthy evidence on the basis of which it is possible to found the conviction of the accused and to hold that he is guilty of the offence with which he is charged.[Harchand Singh v. State of Haryana, 1975 (1) S.C.J. 102]

There are basically three types of trials –

- 1) Trials by Court of Session (Sec 225-237)
- 2) Trials by magistrates (can be summon cases or warrant cases )
 Sec 238-250 deal with warrant cases by magistrates.
 Sec 251-259 provides procedure for trial of summons cases by magistrates.
- 3) Summary trials (Sec 260-265)

Inquiry	Trial
All those proceedings before a Magistrate prior to the framing of a charge which does not result in conviction is “inquiry” An inquiry into an offence never ends in conviction or acquittal; at the most it may result in discharge or commitment of case for trial by a Magistrate/ Sessions Judge.	Trial is a proceeding which involves examination and determination of a cause by a judicial tribunal, and which ends in conviction or acquittal of the accused.
An inquiry doesn’t necessarily mean an inquiry into an offence because it may relate to matters which are not offences.	A Trial is always an examination of offence.
Inquiry refers to every Inquiry other than a trial conducted under the Code of Criminal Procedure by a Magistrate/Court.	Trial is the examination and determination of a cause by a judicial tribunal which has jurisdiction over it.

Inquiry is the second stage in a criminal case.

Trial is the third stage in a criminal case.

CONCLUSION

Investigation, inquiry and trial are three different stages of a criminal case. The case is first investigated by the police to ascertain whether an offence has actually been committed and if so, by whom and the nature of evidence available for the prosecution.

Inquiry is the second stage which is conducted by a Magistrate for the purpose of committing the accused to sessions or discharging him when no case has been made out. In case of complaints made to a Magistrate, it refers to a preliminary inquiry made by him under Section 202 to ascertain the truth or falsehood of the complaint or whether there is any matter which calls for investigation by a criminal court.

The final stage of the case comes when the accused is put on trial before the Sessions Judge or the Magistrate when he is empowered by law to try the cases himself.

jurisprudentia.com/post/directive-principles-of-state-policy-how-relevant-in-governance

BRIEF AND OBSERVATION: The Constitution of India is built up on political majority rule government as well as financial equity to the individuals to set up a government assistance state. Considering this reason, our Constitution sets rules in Part IV known as the Directive Principle of State Policy. Dr. B R Ambedkar portrayed these standards as 'novel features' of the Constitution. These standards accentuate that the state will give fundamental offices like asylum, food and garments to the individuals.

Fundamental Rights can be enforced by the courts but Directive principle of state policy is not enforced by the courts for their violation. The Constitution itself declares that 'these principles are fundamental in the governance of the country and it shall be the duty of the state to apply these principles in making laws.

Classification of Directive Principles of State Policy (DPSP)

Directive Principles of State Policy is classified into three categories:

1. Socialistic Principles
2. Gandhian Principles
3. Liberal-Intellectual Principles.

1. Socialistic Principles: These principles contemplate the ideology of socialism and lay down the framework of a democratic socialist state. The idea is to give social and financial equity, with the goal that states liability to accomplish the ideal standards of government assistance state. They direct the state through- Article 38, Article 39, Article 39 An, Article 41, Article 42, Article 43, Article 43A and Article 47.

2. Gandhian Principles: These principles reflect the programme of reconstruction enunciated by Gandhi during the national movement. In order to fulfil the dreams of Gandhi, some of his ideas were included in DPSP and they direct the state through- Article 40, Article 43, Article 43 B, Article 46, Article 47 and Article 48.

3. Liberal-Intellectual Principles: These principles inclined towards the ideology of liberalism and they direct the state through- Article 44, Article 45, Article 48, Article 48 A, Article 49, Article 50 and Article 51.

Provisions of Directive Principles after Amendment

Few Directive Principles were added in the 42nd Amendment Act of 1976 to the list. To secure opportunities for healthy development of children, Article 39 as Article 39A is used to promote equal justice and to provide free legal aid, Article 43 as Article 43A to make sure the participation of workers in the management of industries, Article 48 as Article 48A to secure the protection and improvement of the environment and to safeguard forests and wildlife.

Can state government or the central government be sued by an individual for not following the directive principles?

Article 37 which states that “The provisions contained in this Part shall not be enforceable by any court, but the principles therein laid down are nevertheless fundamental in the governance of the country and it shall be the duty of the State to apply these principles in making laws”. From this statement we can get the answer which is negative. Because of this article no provision of this part can be made enforceable in the court of law and cannot be used against the central government or the state government.

Conflicts between Fundamental Rights and Directive Principle of State Policy:

Whenever there is a conflict between Fundamental Rights and DPSPs, the court has different views in every judicial decision. There were cases in which the field of conflict was between fundamental rights and DPSPs:

1. Champakam Dorairajan Case (1951): In this case, the Apex Court held that any law which violates the Fundamental Rights is void, but in case of DPSPs that law will not be considered void. Due to the decision the First Amendment Act, 1951, the Fourth Amendment Act (1955) and the Seventeenth Amendment Act (1964) to execute some Directives.
2. Golaknath Case (1967): In this case the judgment reversed Supreme Court's earlier decision which held that Parliament have power to amend all parts of the Constitution, including Fundamental Rights in the cases Shankari Prasad v. Union of India and Sajjan Singh vs. State of Rajasthan. Due to the decision 24th Amendment Act 1971 & 25th Amendment Act, 1971 came declaring that it has the power to curtail or take away any of the Fundamental Rights by enacting Constitutional Amendment Acts.
3. Kesavananda Bharti Case (1973): This is a landmark case in the history of law which determines the basic structure of the constitution. The Supreme Court ruled out the second provision of the Article 31C, which is amended by the 25th Amendment Act to be invalid or unconstitutional. Whereas, the first provision of Article 31C is considered constitutional and valid. Due to the decision the 42nd Amendment Act, 1971, which extended the scope of the first provision that any law which is made to execute the DPSPs it would be invulnerable from unlawfulness considering that it ignores Articles 14 and 19.

4. Minerva Mills Case (1980): The above-mentioned view for the first provision has been struck down and made Article 31C unconstitutional and invalid. It also made DPSPs subordinate to Fundamental Rights. Supreme Court likewise expressed the adjusting system between the Fundamental Rights and DPSPs while expressing that the Indian Constitution is established on the bedrock of the harmony between the Fundamental Rights and the Directive Principles.

Conclusion

Remembering the contentions set forth above and the point of the Constituent Assembly while making the non-justifiable rights, it tends to be inferred that making the DPSPs enforceable is superfluous. The Assembly would not like to authorize the Directives since they expected that they would get obsolete after some time. Besides, most of their provisions have been upheld through different enactments; those that are not enforceable have begging to be proven wrong pertinence in today's world. In any case, only on the grounds that they are not reasonable in an official courtroom, doesn't render them futile. The current situation of the Directives is adjusted and alluring. In any case, it is additionally suggested that they should be made mainstream and liberated from ethics that they force on residents. They should consolidate the assumptions held by the country all in all and not those held by just a specific class.

TITLE/ CASE: Federal structure of constitution in light of S.R. Bommai case.

AREA: Constitutional law

BRIEF ABOUT FACTS OF THE CASE:

Bommai v. Union of India came before the bench of 9 judges (consisting of Kuldip Singh, P. B. Sawant, Katikithala Ramaswamy, S. C. Agarwal, Yogeshwar Dayal, B. P. Jeevan Reddy, S. R. Pandian, A. M. Ahmadi, J. S. Verma) under the following circumstances:

Karnataka

The Janata Party being the majority party in the Karnataka State Legislature had formed Government under the leadership of S. R. Bommai. In September 1988, the Janata Party and Lok Dal merged into a new party called Janata Dal. The Ministry was expanded with addition of 13 members. Within two days thereafter, K.R. Molakery, a legislator of Janata Dal defected from the party. He presented a letter to the Governor Pendekanti Venkatasubbaiah along with 19 letters, allegedly signed by legislators supporting the Ministry, withdrawing their support. As a result, on 19 April, the Governor sent a report to the President stating therein there were dissensions and defections in the ruling party. He further stated that in view of the withdrawal of the support by the said legislators, the chief Minister, Bommai did not command a majority in the Assembly and, hence, it was inappropriate under the Constitution, to have the State administered by an Executive consisting of Council of Ministers which did not command the majority in the state assembly. He, therefore, recommended to the President that he should exercise power under Article 356(1). However, on the next day seven out of the nineteen legislators who had allegedly written the said letters to the Governor sent letters to him complaining that their signatures were obtained on the earlier letters by misrepresentation and affirmed their support to the Ministry. The Chief Minister and his Law Minister met the Governor the same day and informed him about the decision to summon the Assembly, even by bringing forward the scheduled session, to prove the confidence of assembly in his Ministry. To the same effect, he sent a telex message to the President. The Governor however sent yet another report to the President on the same day i.e., 20-4-1989, and stated that the Chief Minister had lost the confidence of the majority in the House and repeated his earlier request for action under Article 356(1). On that very day, the President issued the Proclamation in question with the recitals already referred to above. The Proclamation was, thereafter approved by the Parliament as required by Article 356(3). A writ petition was filed on 26 April 1989 challenging the validity of the proclamation.

A special bench of 3 judges of Karnataka High Court dismissed the writ petition.

Meghalaya

On 11 October 1991 the president issued a proclamation under Article 356(1) dismissing the government of Meghalaya and dissolving the legislative assembly. The Proclamation stated that the President was satisfied on the basis of the report from the Governor and other information received by him that the situation had arisen in which the Government of the State could not be carried on in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution. The Government was dismissed and the Assembly was dissolved accordingly.

Nagaland

On 7 August 1988, the president issued the proclamation on the basis of Governor Report and dismissed the Government of Nagaland thus dissolving the Legislative assembly. Vamuzo, leader of opposition party, challenged the validity of Proclamation in Gauhati High Court. A Division Bench comprising the Chief Justice and Hansaria, J. heard the petition. The Bench differed on the effect and operation of Article 74 (Constitution of India)(2) and hence the matter was referred to the third Judge. But before the third learned judge could hear the matter, the Union of India led by Rajiv Gandhi's Congress Party moved this Court for grant of special leave which was granted and the proceedings in the High Court were stayed.

Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Himachal Pradesh

On account of the Babri Masjid demolition, communal riots spread out in the entire country. The Central Government under the leadership of Shri P V Narsimharao of the Congress party banned RSS, VHP and Bajrang Dal. The Central Government dismissed the BJP Governments of Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Himachal Pradesh. As a result, on 15 December 1992, the president issued the proclamation under Article 356 dismissing the State Governments and dissolving the Legislative Assemblies of Madhya Pradesh, Himachal Pradesh and Rajasthan. The validity of these proclamations was challenged by the Writs in the appropriate High Courts. The Madhya Pradesh High Court allowed the petition, but writ petition relating to Rajasthan and Himachal Pradesh were withdrawn to Supreme Court. All the above said petition contained similar question of law and therefore they were heard conjointly by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The arguments in the S.R. Bommai's case commenced in the first week of October 1993 and were concluded in the last week of December 1993.

OBSERVATION: Bommai went to court against the Governor's decision to recommend president's rule. First, he moves to Karnataka High court, which dismissed his writ petition and Then he moved to Supreme court. This case raised serious question of law relating to Proclamation of President's Rule and dissolution of Legislative assemblies according to Article 356 of the Constitution of India. The first and most important question which the Supreme Court had to determine was whether the Presidential Proclamation under Article 356 was justiciable and if so to what extent. The second contention was whether the President has unfettered powers to issue Proclamation under Article 356(1) of the Constitution.

JUDGEMENT: Hon'ble court ended the arbitrary dismissal of state government under article 356 by spelling certain restrictions.

TITLE: Mercy killing: Passive and Active Euthanasia.

AREA: Human Rights and Constitutional law

BRIEF AND OBSERVATION: Life in terms of a word then yes it is a very small word and even its meaning is also very small. But do you really think it is true? In reality no, it is full of various things like happiness, love, challenges, stress, pressure, success, failure and what not, but the purpose of the life is obviously is not petty as I described. When you will be in your eleventh hour then you will definitely say 'I enjoyed my life' with courage and happiness. Actually the meaning of life changes from person to person, but the fundamental, the basics, the core is the same. I always used to say that a human being is isotopic by nature it means that our internal feelings are same but we are different in physical appearance or in physical characteristics. Now, from the stated line we can imagine how important the life is. But it is general sense. So far about the legal base is concern then yes, everyone has right to life as per stated in the Article 21 of the constitution of India. But as we all are aware that the society is transforming day by day and in this social modification a new terminology came into existence and which is none other than mercy killing. Mercy killing also termed as Euthanasia. The term Euthanasia comes from ancient Greek words : 'Eu' means 'Good' and 'thantos' means 'death'. So, it's literally means 'good death' and in strict sense easy death or mercy killing. So, it was highlighted because in many cases we observed that the particular patient is not well she or he is in her or his eleventh hour. And there is no hope, still their family members spending resources for their proper treatment to cure them. But in the case of eleventh hour it can't be done so in such case to save the resources when there is no hope and to avoid such things this terminology came into existence. Basically it is the practice of terminating the life of a terminally ill person or animal in a painless or minimally painful way, for the purpose of limiting suffering. Jim Morrison rightly said that "People from death even more than pain, it is strange that they fear death, Life hurts a lot more than death. At the point of death, the pain is over."

TYPES OF EUTHANASIA

Euthanasia can be classified into active and passive or alternatively into voluntary, involuntary and nonvoluntary. * Active Euthanasia - It means putting an end to the life of an individual for merciful reason by a medical practitioner by giving a lethal dose of medication to the patient. * Passive Euthanasia - It takes place where methods such as removing artificial life support systems such as ventilators, hydration, etc. are resorted to. Passive Euthanasia is Executed in following ways-

(1) Lethal Injection : Injection of a lethal dose of a drug, such as a known poison, KCl, etc.

(2) Asphyxiation : The most popular gas used is Carbon Monoxide (CO) Nerve gases like sarin & tabun etc. are also added in small amounts to fully ensure death.

(3) One of the methods is also Dr. Jack Kevorkian's death machine. He is also known as Dr. Death. It is a unique method in which a person can end his life himself. With the use of this machine a person can end his life himself painlessly at the time chosen by the patient.

STATUS OF EUTHANASIA INDIA

From the birth, a person has basic human rights. And it is true that Right to Life is a basic as well as a fundamental right. So, we can easily understand that the right to life means right to live. But under the same the one question arises that whether a person has a right to die? So, far the right to die is concern in the case of M. S. Dubal Vs. State of Maharashtra - The 'right to die' provided by the constitution may be said to bring into its purview, the right not to live a forced life, the plea that euthanasia be legalised was discarded. It was held that as euthanasia involves the intervention of a third person, it would indirectly amount to a person, it would indirectly amount deliberation, debate and discussion on the issue of attempted suicide in India, and the IPC section 309 recognizes it to be a punishable act. The law goes on to define its principle as "Whoever attempts to commit suicide and does any act towards the commission of such offence, shall be punished with simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year or with fine, or with both. And section 309 of the IPC on many occasions challenged in the courts in India. In the case of the courts in India. In the case of P. Ranthinam Vs. UOI - The SC held that the right to live of which Article 21 speaks of can be said to bring in its trail the right not to live a forced life and therefore Section 309 violates Article 21. (4) But in the case of Gian Kaur Vs. State of Punjab it was held that right to die is a fundamental right. Therefore, it was ruled that it could not be validly stated that Section 309 violates Article 21. So, there must be an amendment in section 309 of IPC to exclude euthanasia which makes attempt to suicide is crime. The major to suicide is crime. The major issues in front of us are should euthanasia be legalised? How euthanasia is different from committing suicide? Who will take the decision to ends someone's life? What will be the consequences if euthanasia is legalised? These are the some important issues which we need to find out the answer. And government also have to take the initiative for this and they introduced the Treatment of Terminally ill Patients Bill, 2016.

LAW Vs. MORALITY

In terms of Euthanasia or good death or mercy killing there is always one question arises and it is related to the superiority. That whether the law is superior or morality is superior? When we go through the meaning of law it means that law is derive from a Latin word 'leg' means definite. So law is definite. But morality is all about judgment to distinguish right and wrong, vision to see the truth, courage to act upon it, dedication to that which is good, integrity to stand by the good at integrity to stand by the good at any price. This differentiation is really important because in society the superiority of morality is higher than the law. Eg. There are many example of parents whose child is mentally disabled and they know that she /he is suffering from incurable disease but still they don't want to execute euthanasia. It means whatever the condition of there child is but still they don't take this action. So far about particularly this topic is concern we can't compare it with other countries because our culture, custom are quite different from other quite different from other countries. India is full of cultural diversities, various customs, different religions that is why it is difficult to introduce this concept in India.

CONCLUSION

Efforts to allow assisted suicide have gained momentum around the world in the recent past, with Albania, Colombia and Germany and Switzerland having legalised it in various forms. In India, the debate over euthanasia, patient autonomy and the interests of the state in preserving the life of persons is currently playing out in persons is currently playing out in various streams, including the courts and executive. For proper results Doctrinal research must be conducted.

TITLE: Child marriage

AREA: Hindu Marriage Act, 1956

BREIF AND OBSERVATION: A girl belonging to rich affluent family is suffering from a pschycological disorder because of which she feels love, sympathy and compassion for random people belonging to very lower class of the society. Because of this, she get herself married with a poor fellow by Arya samaj rituals without the consent from her parents. Now she is residing with her parents, and the husband has filed Habeus corpus suit in the HC.

What are the requirements to get married through Arya Samaj process?

The following eligibility criteria must be fulfilled by the bride and groom before applying for Arya Samaj Marriage:

1. They should not have a living husband/wife at the time of marriage.
2. They should not be incapable of giving consent due to unsound mind.
3. They must not suffer from insanity or epilepsy.
4. The bride should be at least 18 years old and the groom at least 21.
5. Both parties must not be within prohibited relationship with each other.

Validity of Arva Samaj Marriage

Arya Samaj marriage is considered valid in India. However, it is not a valid proof internationally. Hence before applying for Visa, it is recommended to register the Arya Samaj marriage either under the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 or under the Special Marriage Act, 1954 with the concerned Sub-Divisional Magistrate's Office.

Issue

Is the marriage is valid on grounds of Age and consent?

According to the section 5 of Hindu marriage act, 1955, that the bride must be of 18 years and Groom must be of 21 years for a valid marriage. As in this case the girl is a minor and the marriage is voidable at the option of the parties.

Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006

Ineffectiveness of Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929, prompted the government to make a new legislation to replace it. So, in the year 2006 Government of India enacted a new legislation in the form of Prohibition of Child Marriage Act, 2006(or PCMA).

The Act seeks to prevent child marriages with enhanced punishments of rigorous imprisonment for two years and/or fine of INR 1 lakh. It also defines a child to mean a male below 21 years and female below 18 years. There are provisions for maintenance of the girl child.

Hindu Marriage Act, 1956

Under the Hindu Marriage Act, only the parties to a child marriage are punishable even if they did not consent to the union. There are no provisions for punishing the parents or people who solemnised the marriage. A girl can get the marriage annulled only if she was married off before attaining the age of 15 and she challenges the marriage before turning 18. There is no express provision to prohibit child marriage per se.

And according to the section 5 of Hindu marriage act, 1955, at the time of the marriage, neither party;

- (a) is incapable of giving a valid consent to it in consequence of unsoundness of mind; or
- (b) though capable of giving a valid consent, has been suffering from mental disorder of such a kind or to such an extent as to be unfit for marriage and the procreation of children; or
- (c) has been subject to recurrent attacks of insanity

And in this case it is already said that the girl is suffering from a psychological disorder because of which she feels love, sympathy and compassion for random people belonging to very lower class of the society. So the marriage will be void as the consent was not taken in proper state of mind.

The Habeus corpus which is filed by the husband is maintainable, if the girl did not file a case before the age of 18 for dissolution of marriage and if she has attain the age of 18 then the husband has the right to take him home, but in our case the girl is not a major and has a mental disorder which is unfit for marriage and procreation of children. The marriage was voidable as the girl at the time of marriage was not major and was not in proper state of mind.

Cases

1. Lajja v State (W.P. (Crl.) No.338/2008) Decision of Delhi HC in case of marriage of minor. In this case the court gave the Judgment that it's the decision of the parties and the minor he/she can file for it before completing the age of 18 years. And as soon as the girl attain the age she can go anywhere she wants.
2. Seema Beghum v State (WRIT PETITION NO.75889 OF 2013(GM-RES)) The Karnataka High Court in 2013 reiterated the judgement of Delhi High court in the case of Lajja v State and held that the PCMA prevails over personal laws.
3. Yusuf Ibrahim Mohammad Lokhat v State of Gujarat The High court of Gujarat observed that “According to the personal Law of Muslims, the girl no sooner she attains the puberty or completes the 15 years, whichever is earlier, is competent to get married without the consent of her parents”. This clearly gives the idea that according to the learned judges, the personal laws should be taken as a primary source to decide the cases of underage marriage.

DURATION: 31ST July 2020 to 7th August 2020.

CONCLUSION

In the end I would like to opine that the real legal practice is absolutely different from the theoretical version of law which we study. Without exposure to the real world, one can't understand the analytical and positive application of law & jurisprudence & the actual function & structure of law. What we study is the body, but what we have learnt from this internship is the mechanism of this body.

I was surprise to see how the simplest of laws were applicable in the most difficult of situations & how loopholes leave so much scope for evolution & improvisation today in this field.

With a vote of thanks and gratefulness for reading this report thoroughly & for giving me this wonderful opportunity to grow my vision in this field, I conclude this report with a great lot in my mind.
