But, we believe that experience is also an important and effective part of teaching. We include experiential learning across the curriculum, and we encourage all our students to participate in learning through internships, fieldwork, student teaching and summer training. An important feature in all the Programs is the Project undertaken by the students after completion of the 1st Year. For the students, the Project offers an opportunity to use & validate some of the theories, skills and ways of thinking they have acquired during the previous semesters. Furthermore, the Project comforts students with difficulty of working independently or as a part of team on a complete real-life problem in a relatively short span of time.

The Fairfield- School of Law with active association and guidance of the Bar Council of India hosted the 31st National All India Inter-University Moot Court Competition for University/Collegiate Law Students. The objective of Moot Court is to equip students with the skills to identify legal issues, to present coherent, well-formulated arguments in a court of law. arguments to a team of jury. As the presentations were made the jury scrutinized and sought clarity of their presentations. After they were finished the defendants had to pour water into the applicant's arguments. It became evident that the Moot Court Competition is a good battery test for Law students as they were thrown into the deep end. Students who participate learn skills of arguing and confidence.
